Who is joining us today?

An Introduction to the Province of Alberta's Family Resource Networks

- In an effort to promote a consistent Province-wide approach to prevention and early intervention services and supports for Alberta's children, youth and families the Province worked through a coordinated process with service providers to form Family Resource Networks (FRN)
- FRN's began operating in April of 2020

An Introduction to the Province of Alberta's Family Resource Networks

Family Resource Networks;

- Deliver high quality prevention & early intervention services and supports for children aged 0 to 18
- Are community-based center's that offer a full continuum of prevention and early intervention services and supports based on the individual needs of children and families
- Are in all geographic areas as well as in various cultural communities across the province
- Are inclusive, accessible, family focused, child and youth centered

An Introduction to the Province of Alberta's Family Resource Networks

Family Resource Networks provide services and supports that focus on;

- Strengthening parenting and caregiving knowledge and practices
- Strengthening social supports, coping and problem-solving skills
- Building resiliency, and fostering well-being
- Supporting access to community supports and resources
- Improving infant, child and youth development
- Services and supports based on the Provinces Well-Being and Resiliency Framework

An Introduction to the Province of Alberta's Family Resource Networks

- Family Resource Networks (FRNs) work to ensure that, through a 'Hub-and-Spoke' network design approach, Alberta children and youth aged 0-18 years and their families have equitable access to a continuum of evidence-based/informed services

The Well-Being and Resiliency Model

An Umbrella of Supports

Core Service Delivery Domains

Caregiver Capacity Building

Child Development and Well-Being

Social Connection and Supports

Caregiver Capacity Building

- Promote the development and strengthening of caregivers' parenting skills and knowledge
- Enhance capacity to create safe, responsive and nurturing environments and support healthy child development
- Promote the parent-child relationship
- Promote safe nurturing home environments
- Encourage positive parenting practices
- Increase parental confidence and competence in their caregiver role.
- Build parental/caregiver resiliency

Child Development and Well-Being

- Promote growth and development of infants, children and youth
- Actively engage infants, children and youth through a broad range of activities
- Build skills in all developmental domains with a focus on social and emotional development
- Assist infants, children and youth in reaching their developmental potential

Social Connection and Supports

- Promote positive connections between infants, children, youth, parents, families, caregivers, and communities
- Based on the needs of families and delivered in the context of families and communities
- Aims to reduce isolation by providing opportunities for social support, connectivity, and development of natural supports
- Support families in navigating service systems and partner with parents and caregivers in identifying and accessing community resources
- Promote family well-being and resiliency by building connections

Continuum of Supports and Services

The Well-Being and resiliency model supports a continuum of programs that recognizes each family and community as unique and delivers programs in a manner that is responsive to each situation.

Universal

- Build protective factors and prevent development of risk factors and vulnerabilities

Targeted

- Strengthen protective factors and reduce the impact of risk factors and the need for more intrusive and intensive interventions.

Intensive

- Address complex needs resulting from the impact of multiple risk factors, with the intent of reducing long-term consequences of adversity and prevent recurrence.

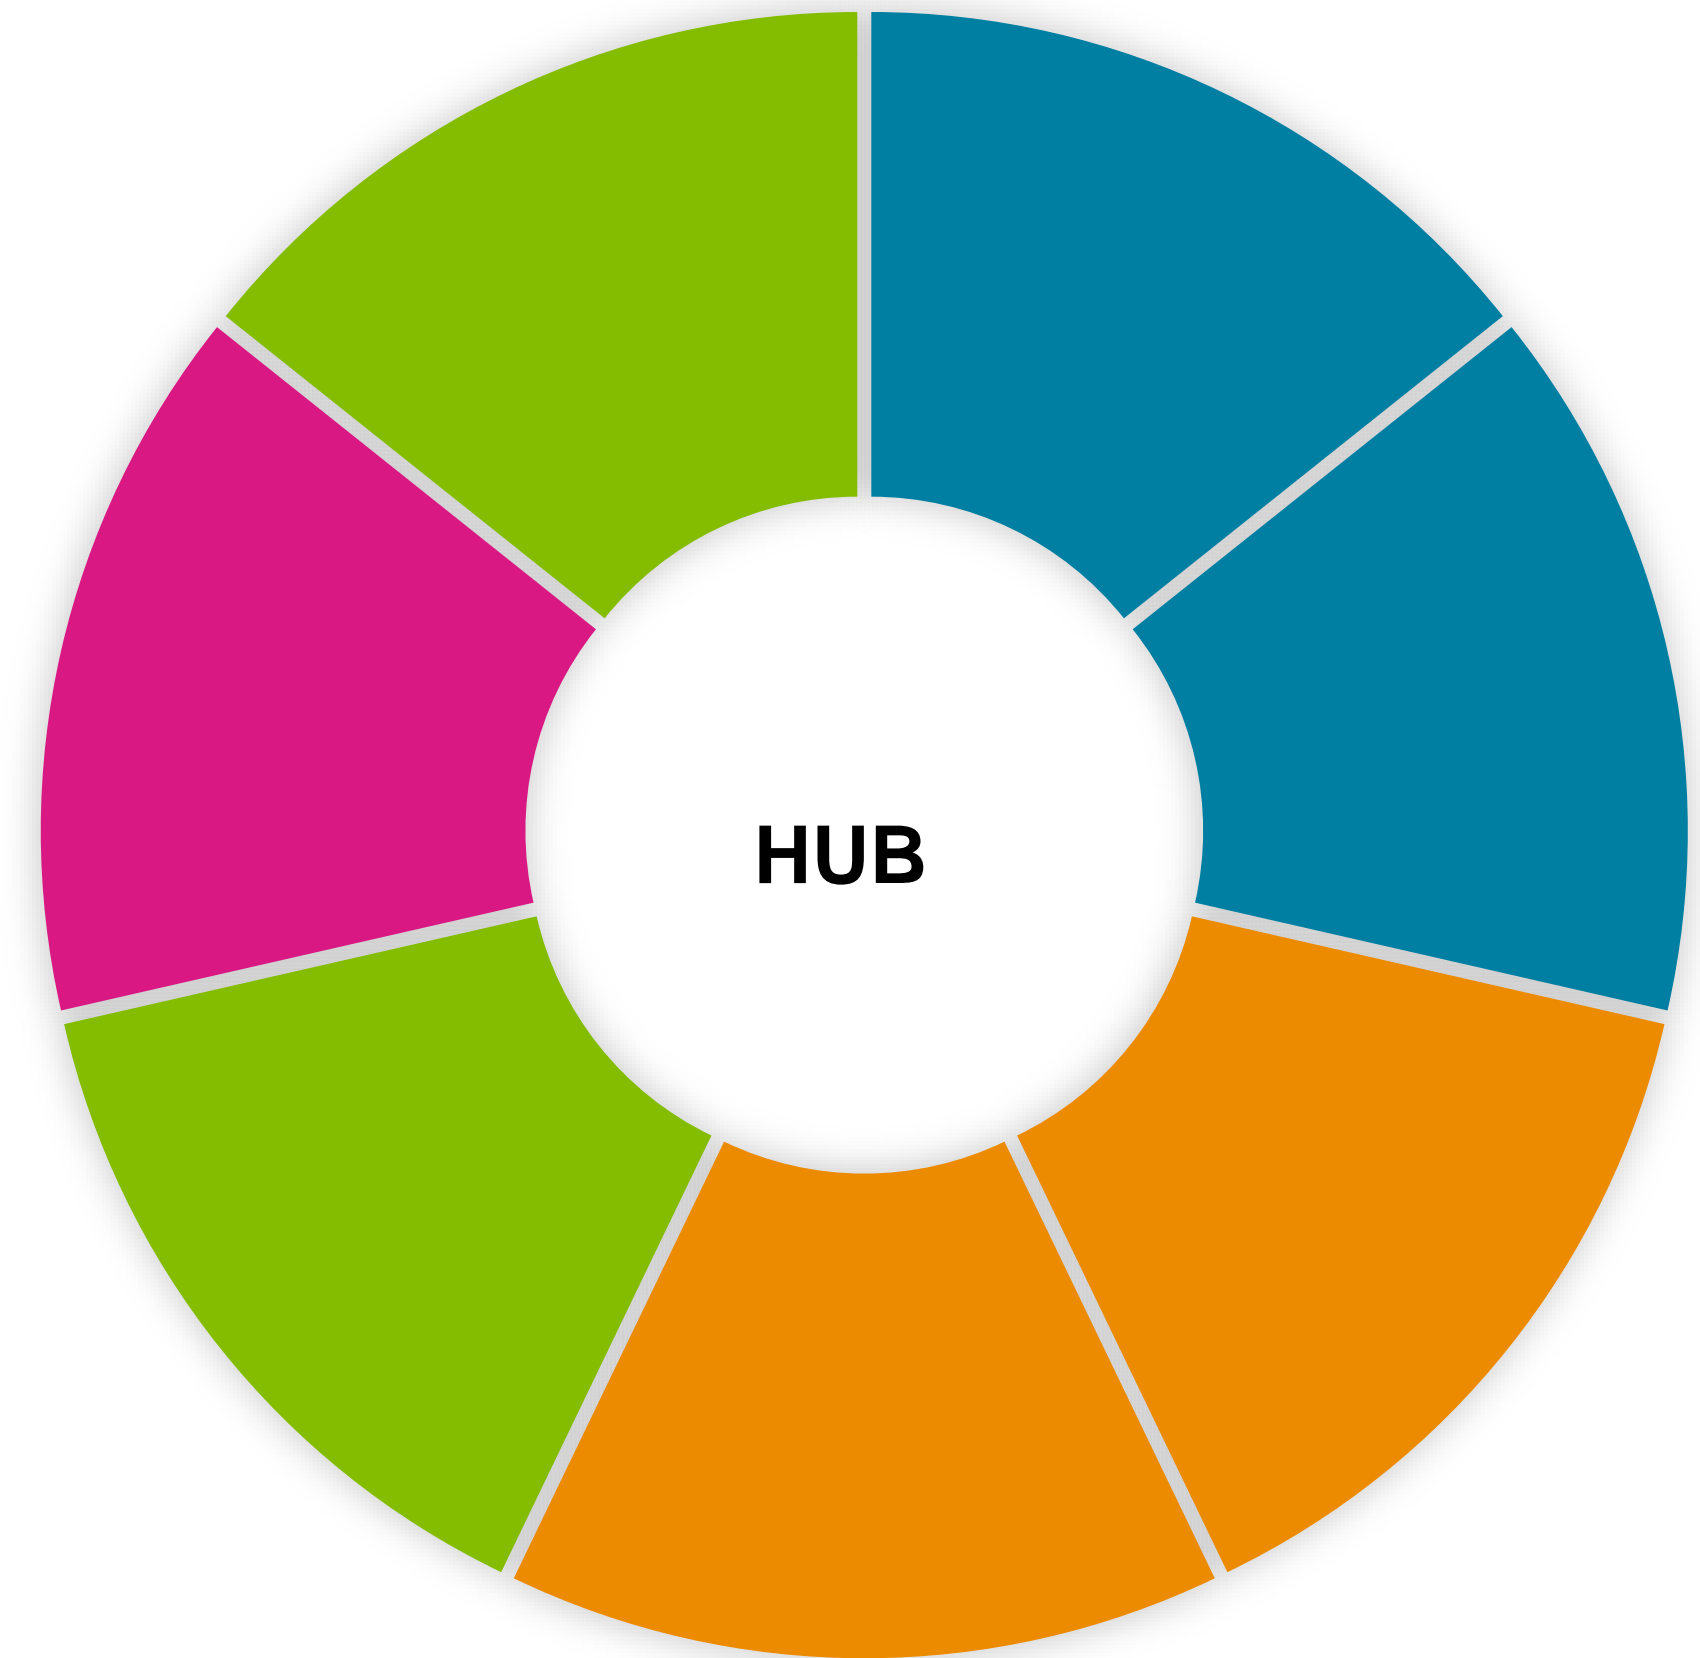

A Hub and Spoke Network Design

- Using a hub and spoke design, All Family Resource Networks provide supports and services in all domains, across the continuum for all age groups 0-18 years
- A coordinated service integration and program delivery network model approach enhances service delivery
- Individual FRN's Hub and Spoke designs

A Hub and Spoke Network design

HUB

- The Anchor Organization
- Coordinates the delivery of a full array of services, supports and programming
- Connects families to services
- Connects service providers to one another and the community

A Hub and Spoke Network design

SPOKES

- A network of services and supports
- Formal community partnerships and collaborations
- Ensure a continuum of services in all domains for parents, caregivers, infants, children and youth

Youth 1:1 Mentoring

We'll match your child with a Big Brother or Big Sister who will spend 1-1 time with the youth once a week or every other week. The focus is on positive role modelling. During COVID-19 we are supporting matches to connect virtually and allowing them to meet in the community when restrictions are permitting.

Caregiver Capacity Building “Spoke”

Supporting caregivers to build healthy attachments, healthy relationships, and healthy families in order to improve overall family functioning.

THE FAMILY
CENTRE

How do Families Benefit?

- Build effective parenting skills
- Understand how negative childhood experiences, toxic stress, and trauma affect parenting and child development
- Positively influence brain development by focusing on attachment, literacy, culturally sensitive play, and nutrition
 - Improve communication and advocacy skills
 - Better navigate systems
 - Develop or build positive social networks
- Address issues that contribute to addictions, family violence, and mental health

Home Visitation/Family Mentorship

- Home visitation services provide different levels of support. While some families need support with child development information, other families need targeted support to help overcome significant adversity. Above all, home visitation is responsive, flexible, and goal-oriented.

A Family Mentor will help you...

- Share child development information, in other words, what are the stages of your child's growth
- Create a positive parent and child relationship by supporting positive interactions
- Talk about your health concerns and provide you with health-related information
- Discuss pregnancy concerns to provide you with prenatal and postpartum support
- Access and build support networks and resources for you and your family
- Enhance capacity to face, recover and move forward from life challenges

Family Futures

Resource Network

Home Visitation/Family Mentorship

- In-home support for first-time parents and families parenting for the first time in Canada. Families may join before baby's birth or up to 2 years of age. The home visitation program focuses on the role of the caregiver and how to positively contribute to their child's development and growth.

The Red Road Healing Society

We are a non - profit early intervention and prevention Indigenous organization that has been operating the last 23 years in Edmonton, Alberta.

In 2017, we moved from east Edmonton to the west into old GMCC building now dubbed The Orange Hub (TOH).

RED ROAD INDIGENOUS WEST HUB + SPOKE

PTE OYATE FAMILY RESOURCE NETWORK

The long road winding began in the stars, spilled onto the mountain tops, was carried in the snow to the streams, to the rivers, to the ocean. It covers Canada; Alaska, America; Mexico to Guatemala; and keeps winding around the Indigenous.

The Red Road is a circle of people standing hand in hand; people in this world; people between people in the spirit world. Star people, Animal people, Stone people, River people, Tree people. The Scared Hoop.

To walk the Red Road is to know sacrifice and suffering. It is to understand humility. It is the ability to stand naked before the Creator in all things; for your wrong-doings; for your lack of strength; for your dis-compassionate ways; for your arrogance. Because to walk the Red Road, you always know you can do better. And you know when you do good things, it is through the Creator and you are grateful.

To walk the Red Road you are given rights. You have the right to pray, you have the right to dance, you have the right to think, you have the right to protect, you have the right to know Mother Earth, you have the right to dream, you have the right to vision, you have the right to teach, you have the right to learn, you have the right to grieve, you have the right to happiness, you have the right to fix the wrongs, you have the right to truth, you have the right to the Spirit World

To walk the Red Road is to know your Ancestors, to call to them for assistance. It is to know there is good medicine....

This is a partial excerpt from THE RED ROAD poem by David Antoin's holy daughter found on our website (along with descriptions of our programs and services) at www.redroadjourney.ca. The poem outlines our Indigenous world view with respect to the 'red road of life'; and what we try to keep in mind when we are assisting our Indigenous families and facilitating Red Road programs and services.

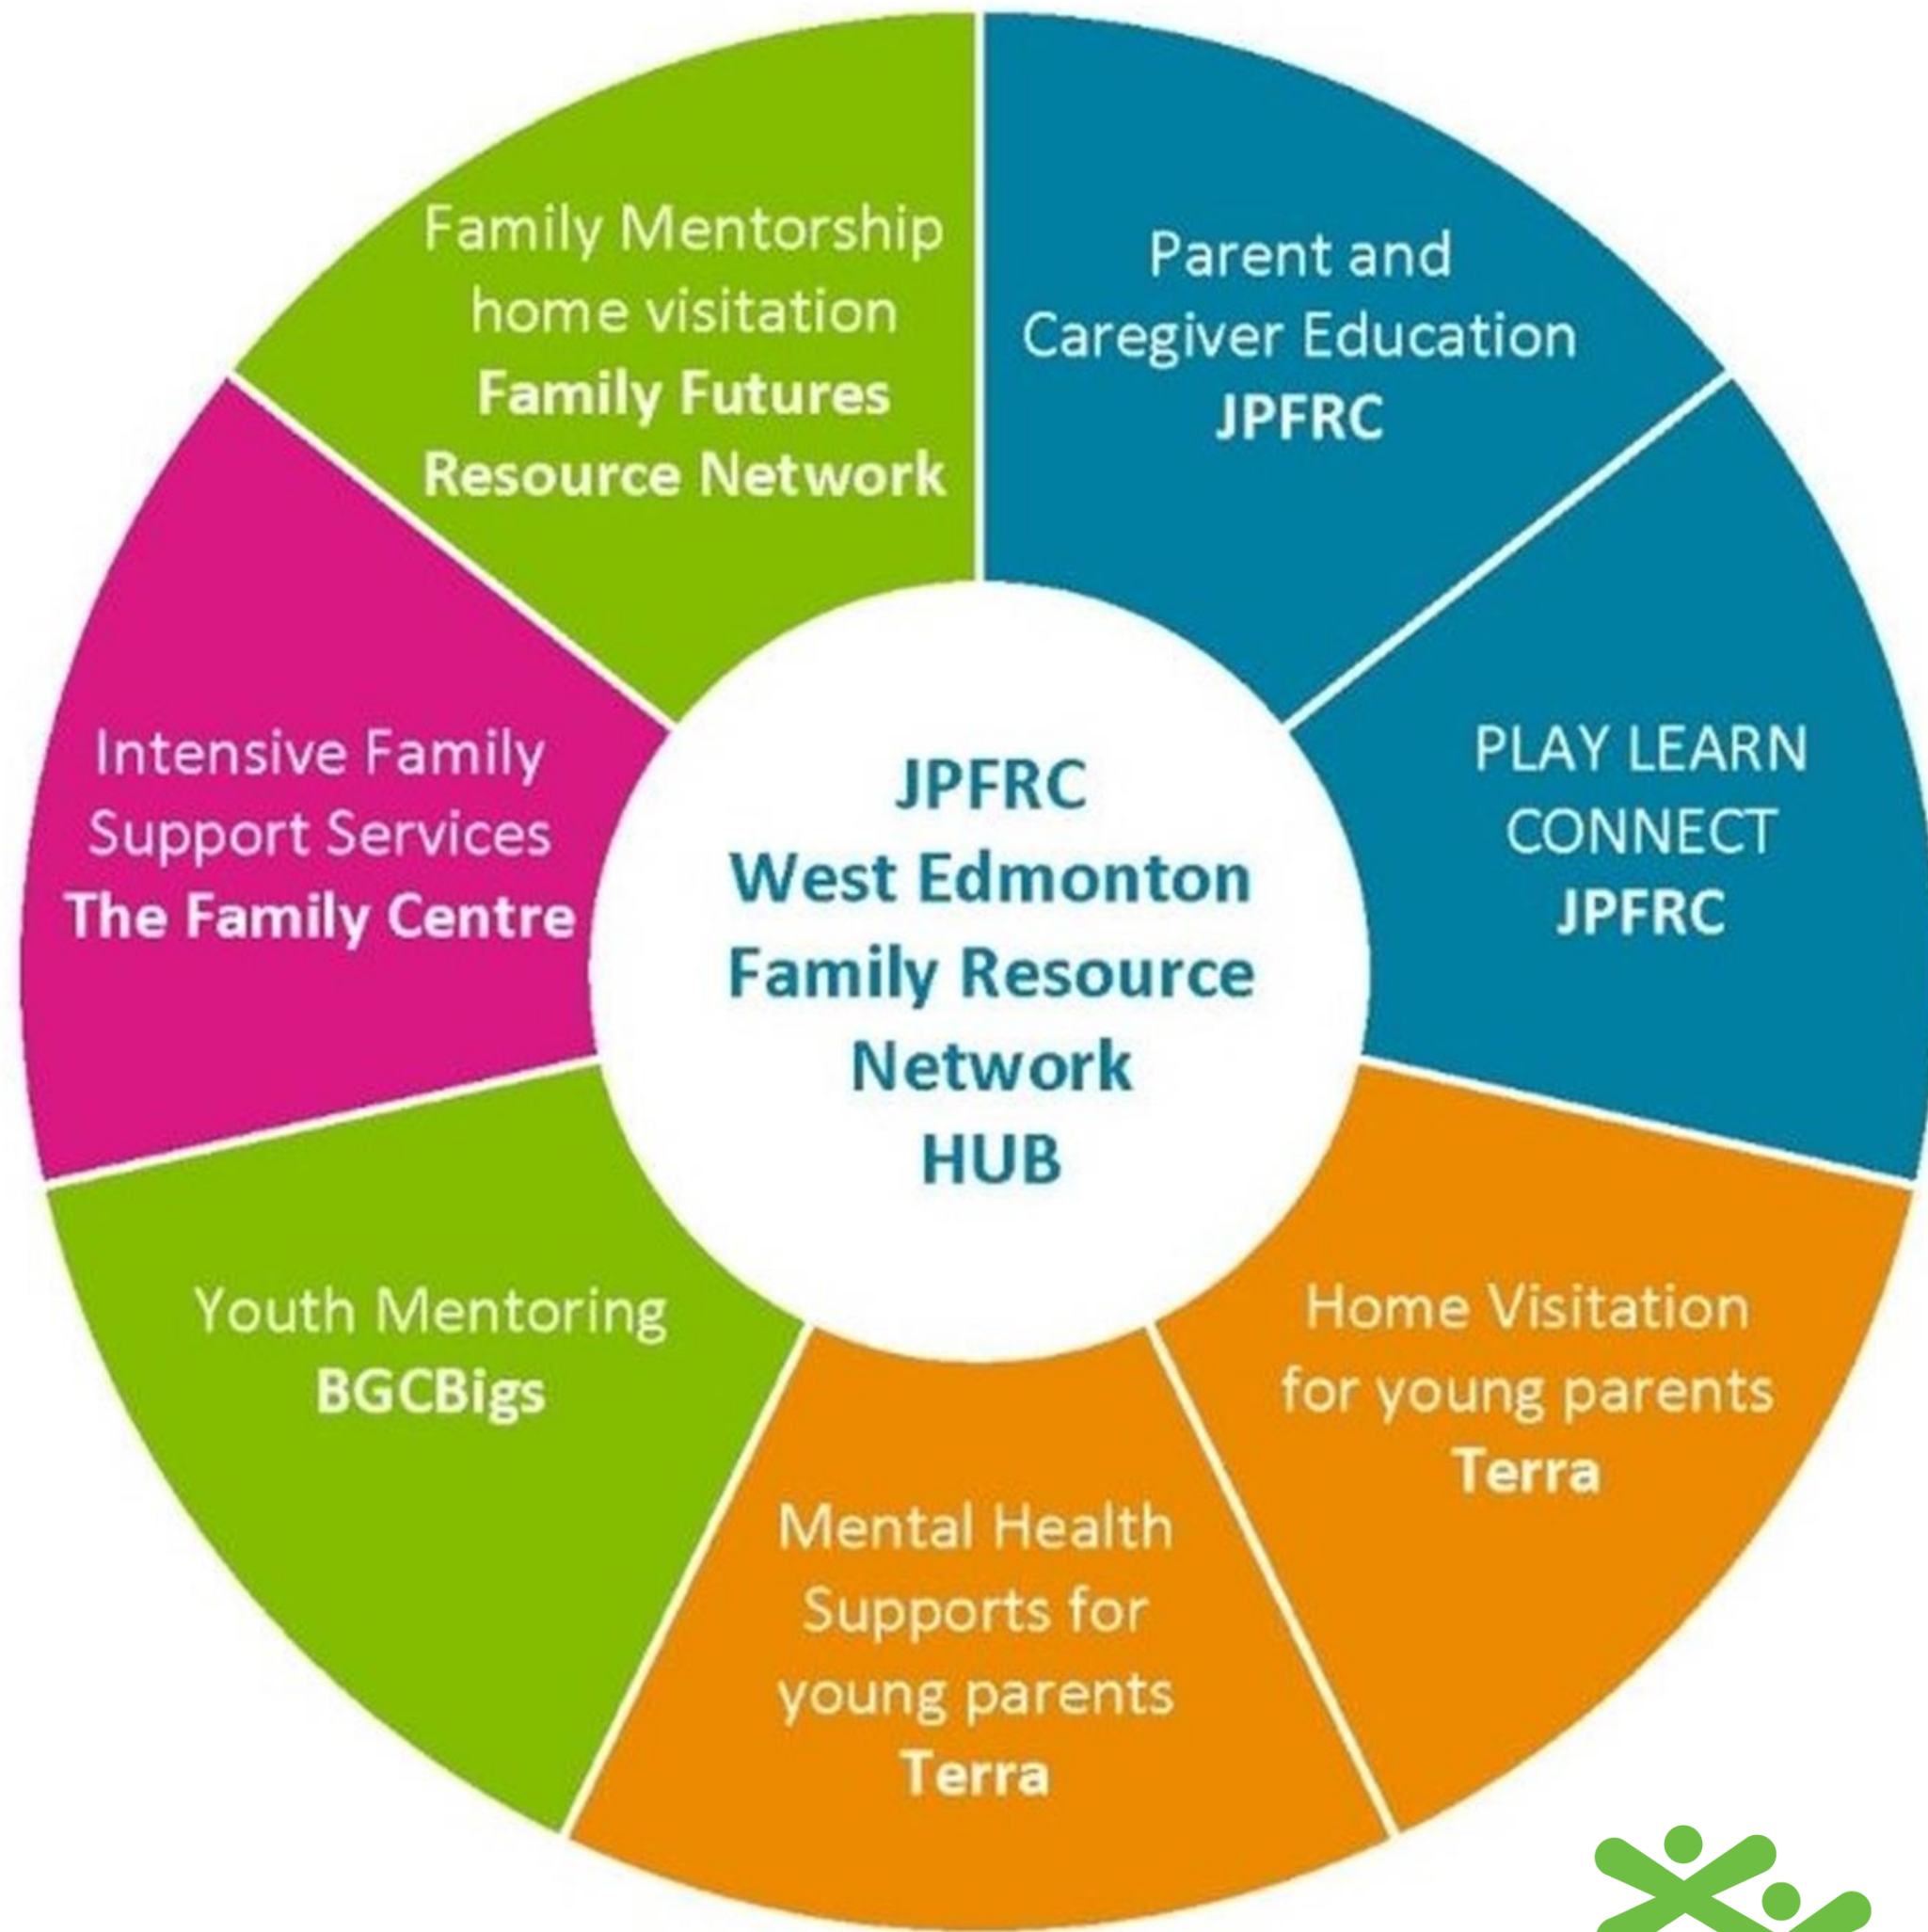

The complete verse can be found on our website under the HOME tab.
